

Resource 1: Decision Tree for Staff COVID-19

To help prevent the spread of COVID-19, any staff who feel unwell with one or more of the symptoms below need to self-isolate, call Healthline or their GP, and inform their manager as soon as possible. Below is a decision tree to help clarify whether continued self-isolation is required and when someone is safe to return to work. Caution needs to remain for staff who are at high risk of complications from COVID-19 and working from home is still recommended where possible for this group. If people do work, a health and safety plan needs to be agreed with their manager. The decision tree can be applied to any contracted essential service worker undertaking work in your organisation.
